Mike,

The accessory structure is part of the full conditional use request. The Village Board has the authority to grant the additional square footage, so that's why it is included in the request along with the event barn. It can be fully approved, partially approved, or denied. Did that answer your question? Or are you asking if an action can be taken on the event barn and the accessory structure laid over, something like that?

Thanks,

Shaun – will we need to include the zoning permit in the open sided accessory structure in our action on this request?
